

Dear Hiring Manager,

I trust this message finds you in good health.

I am writing to express my sincere admiration for Cleverbridge's remarkable track record and to explore potential opportunities where I can contribute my skills and expertise as a front-end developer.

Allow me to introduce myself and share my career journey briefly. Over the course of 9 enriching years in the startup ecosystem, I've honed my skills as a self-taught developer. Specializing in architecting and crafting applications for B2B and B2C startups, I've consistently played a pivotal role in scaling products, driving exceptional customer satisfaction, and fostering substantial business growth.

I am part of the Coboworx team, a robotics company, where I've been actively involved in front-end development for the past 12 months. While my tenure at Coboworx has been immensely fulfilling, the organization is regrettably grappling with funding challenges, leading to its imminent closure. In light of this, I am actively seeking new and exciting opportunities to continue my professional growth while making meaningful contributions to prospective employers, such as Cleverbridge.

My interest in Cleverbridge stems from its remarkable standing in the industry. As I delved into the company's pursuits, I was captivated by its cutting-edge solutions including customer success software that orchestrates and automates subscriptions and payments across the customer journey while minimizing administrative tasks to drive cost efficiencies, Customer Insights, and its pervasive impact on the market. It became clear that Cleverbridge's values and ambitions align seamlessly with my own, providing an ideal platform for my professional excellence and growth.

I openly acknowledge that my recent layoff has presented me with an unexpected shift in circumstances, leading to a momentary sense of disorientation. Despite this, I am confident that with the right team and conducive environment, I can swiftly overcome these challenges and regain my focus.

I would like to mention that I am currently available immediately to embark on a new professional venture. My envisioned trajectory for March 2025 is to elevate my skills and expertise to become a full-stack developer.

Thank you for considering my application and taking the time to peruse my message. I would be delighted to engage in a conversation at your convenience. Please feel free to contact me through the contact details provided below.

Warmest regards,

Sujeith Gopinath
